The Heart of Beef Country

Situated in the lush, green Northern Ireland countryside, which has a long tradition of cattle and sheep rearing, the company benefits from probably the purest environment in Europe.

So when you put it all together—the clean air, the pure water, the great grass—it follows that the cattle and the sheep that come through the factory gates are well bred, naturally fed and of excellent quality. Nor is there any shortage of them. As a result of our close working relationship, built up over many years with our farmer suppliers, a plentiful supply of naturally reared top quality cattle and sheep is assured.
